Overview

Tutorio is a web page where teachers interact with students both online and onsite. Students can find the best tutors.

Goals

As you know, teaching has been a significant job which is being ruined by many people. People are opening academies where there is no check and balance about teaching. Online classes will be monitored and there will be monthly reviews about teachers from students who will be currently enrolled.

Specifications

This will include a section where you can search your desired topic and our site will provide you suggestions of related tutors who are experts in those subjects.

Technologies are tentative for now we will be using sql and php for backend and for frontend html, css, js will be used.

 You can also sign up as a tutor to teach a specific subject.

You can choose to take online or onsite classes according to your needs.

Conclusion

This site will change the tuition system. You can get the best tutors in town, study any topic at ease.
